Irish Leader for Message,

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 21.—The negotiations between British officials and Irish leaders today barely escaped being definitely broken off, and for a time it seemed possible that the Sinn Fein delegates would return to Dublin tonight. It was learned after a short adjournment Monday was taken. The Irish delegates still were apprehensive this afternoon that the session scheduled for next Monday might be the last.

No progress was made at today's meeting, it is said, a combination of events bringing about what virtually amounted to an impasse. The Government delegates, according to Sinn Fein sources, took violent exception to Eamonn de Valera's message to the Pope, and this, with other subjects including that of Ulster, which were down for discussion, left the negotiations hanging by a string.

The Dail delegates are very much drawn to the Pope, for they have little doubt that the delegation was anxious to reach some sort of an agreement. One of the Irish delegates said gloomily:

"The ship is barely afloat."

There are no plans for any meetings between members of the two delegations over the week-end. Consequently, the situation must hang fire, it is understood, until Monday's session, which will be faced with the decision of whether it is to be "peace or war."

Sinn Fein headquarters here issued a statement declaring only minor breaches of the truce had been committed on the Sinn Fein side and alleging serious breaches by the crown forces.

These latter breaches, the statement says, were "not the result of Irish provocation, but definitely instigated and encouraged by a high source in Dublin Castle."

DUBLIN, Oct. 21.—Eamonn de Valera, president of "the Irish Republic," last night addressed the following message to the Pope:

"Ireland's people have read your message to King George and appreciate your kindly interest in their welfare and the paternal regard suggesting it. They tender their gratitude.

"They are confident that the ambiguity in King George's reply will not mislead you into believing that the troubles are in Ireland or that Ireland's people owe allegiance to the British King.

"Ireland's independence was formally proclaimed by the people's representatives and ratified by subsequent plebiscite. Britain's rulers have sought to impose their will on Ireland by brutal force and have endeavored to rob the people of the liberty which is their natural right by ancient heritage.

"We long for peace and the friendship of the British people, but the people's constancy through persecution and martyrdom is proving the reality of the people's attachment to national freedom, and no consideration will ever induce them to abandon it."

This message was issued on the eve of the reassembling of the London conference. It is known that De Valera is fully informed daily of the progress of the negotiations. The passage dealing with Irish independence is taken to mean that recognition of independence is still insisted on as the fundamental issue of the conference.

London Times Criticizes De Valera for Message to Pope.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The London Times, whose attitude with respect to the Irish claims short of complete separation, has been habitually friendly, criticizes De Valera in a severe editorial for his telegram to the Pope, which it imagines "will fill his holiness with dismay and certainly arouse the indignation of the people of this country and the dominions."

"Towards the Pope himself," says the Times, "it is an act of impertinence and towards the King, whose attitude for the Irish people needs no proof, it is unmannerly to the point of churlishness."

The newspaper asks what value will attach to De Valera's assurance that he wishes peace and friendship with the British, when he "deliberately flouts their settled convictions upon the only terms on which the peace and friendship of the two peoples are possible."

"If he really speaks in the name of the majority of the Irish people," the Times adds, "the chances of peace are small."

Aluding to "irreconcilable forces in England which are working de-liberately to break the Irish conference," the paper expresses the fear that they will gather strength from De Valera's message, and, releasing its desire for peace, says

ADMINISTRATION'S REPORTED PLAN TO PREVENT BIG STRIKE

First on Program Is Said to
Be a Drastic Reduction in Railroad Freight Rates.

CONFERENCE WITH MEN WOULD FOLLOW

Request for Withdrawal of Second Wage Cut and Order for Unions to Accept One of July 1.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Notwithstanding the apparent inability of the United States Railroad Board and the Brotherhood chiefs to reach an agreement in Chicago, few, if any, in the Harding Administration expect a strike.

Perhaps it is in the fact that more than a week must elapse before the strike order goes into effect which keeps officials a Washington from growing excited over the railroad situation. But the outward calm which has from the start characterized the attitude of the administration remains the same—an indescribable confidence in the ultimate solution of the problem without a strike.

Broadly speaking, there are some moves in process which affect the contentions of both sides in the controversy. The Government is waiting, too, to see the effect of those developments.

Apparent Harding Program.

The program for the moment appears to be this:

First, a reduction of freight rates
more drastic than any made thus far.

Second, further conferences immediately afterward with the union chiefs with a request that they withdraw their strike order.

Third, a request that the railway executives simultaneously withdraw their petition for a second wage cut.

Fourth, an order from the Railroad Labor Board that the railway employees accept the first wage cut of July 1 and resume work.

Such a program would maintain the status quo, at least, with the additional benefit to the public of a reduction in freight rates. Then the United States Railroad Board, which is by no means a rapid moving body,
would take its time in investigating the effect of the lower freight rates on railway incomes and would ultimately be prepared to say whether a second wage cut would be desirable.

No Early Second Wage Cut.

One thing seems assured—there will be no grant of a second wage cut by the United States Railroad Board at this time. As soon as leaders of the railway employees become convinced of this, they probably will suspend their strike order. The Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks is not looked upon here as necessarily meaning an end of the negotiations.
It was hardly expected that the first conference would lead to a settlement. There is the possibility, too, that the railway chiefs will wait until the last minute before announcing their attitude. They have everything to gain and very little to lose by holding their cards in hand until the Government and the railway executives have agreed on their plan. The Government, it is expected, will not make any move to force a settlement
until the railway clerks have agreed on their plan.

Rosenheim said his records were
correct on the weights of lime, chemicals and other supplies received at the waterworks.

"Nothing Wrong in Arrangement."

Upon being taken to Police Headquarters under arrest, following the conference at the city hall at which he was confronted by Rosenheim, Edwin Kleine, in the presence of Chief of Detectives Hoagland, said to the Post-Dispatch reporter that he could see nothing wrong in the arrangement with Rosenheim. After repeating his declaration that Rosenheim had suggested the weighing arrangement, Kleine said:

"I lost my money fooling with women. I overspent my salary about $45 or $50 a week. I figure that I received about $2000 from the St.
Clair Coal Co. recently after I had received a garnish of $25 a month, but this was discontinued and after that Edwin Kleine would pay him
$50 to $100 at a time."

Rosenheim said his records were
correct on the weights of lime, chemicals and other supplies received at
the waterworks.

heim had suggested the weighing arrangement, Kleine said:

"The coal was weighed at the mine on railroad scales, and we had to accept those weights. The shrinkage in weight when those figures were compared with the city's figures was too great. I complained to the City Supply Commissioner in 1917 that we were not getting fair weight and he replied that the scales were in the hands of the Commissioner of Weights and Measures. It seemed that there was no recourse at the City Hall, so I went to Bissell's Point
next Tuesday, Oct. 25.

When once the rates had been reduced, the Government will be in a position to approach the railway union chiefs with a definite proposition. Heretofore, the union leaders have always said they would not take mere promises of a reduction in freight rates into account, but would believe it when the Interstate Commerce Commission really acted.

The belief here is that psychologically, the public will accept the lower freight rates will be widespread and that it will have the result at least of persuading the railway unions to accept the first wage cut of July 1, which,
the brotherhood chiefs say, was made upon the assumption that freight rates would come down. The situation, therefore, really waits upon the announcement by the Interstate Commerce Commission really acted.

CITY LOSES $9800 THROUGH CLERK'S FALSIFIED RECORDS

Kleine in 1917, a short time after Rosenheim became a city employee, and that it was discontinued in April or May, 1919. He said he spent all the money he got from the city and had nothing with which to make restitution. His city salary was $132 a month. He said he quit falsifying the weights because he realized he was making a mistake and that his acts amounted to stealing money from the city.

The disclosures which led to Rosenheim's arrest were started after a record of the financial transactions
of the St. Clair Coal and Mining Co.
was filed in the Belleville Circuit Court, June 7 last, in connection with a civil suit brought against the company by Brichler. Among the items of expense listed on this record was $144. The record showed that the weight of "Weigher (city waterworks)" was $3545.50.

The record filed in court did not mention the name of the weigher to whom the money was paid. Rosenheim, in his confession, said that at Edwin Kleine's suggestion he was known at the office of the coal company as "Stine." That name does not appear on the court record.

City Figures Lost at $9812.

Investigation by the Water Department is said to have shown that the excess of city weight over railroad weight at the Bissell's Point Station, where coal from the St.
Clair Co. was delivered, has been 4460 tons since January, 1918. Commissioner Wall said that at an average price of $2.00 a ton, the loss to the city through this overweight was $912.

Woman Dies of Accident.

Mrs. Tate said that when she and her husband were at their son's bedside in the hospital last night a woman, whose name they did not obtain, told them that their son had to choose between striking his automobile or the street car and that he deliberately ran his automobile against the street car to avoid hitting her car. Had his automobile struck a woman told Mrs. Tate, her automobile probably would have been overturned.

Yesterday Tate was discharged in Court of Criminal Correction, where he had furnished bond for his appearance in connection with an automobile accident at 10:50 p. m. at 7, when Miss Anna Bell Finegan, 28, of 1805 North Grand avenue, was knocked down by her automobile as they were driving Lindell boulevard at Spring street. Gilroy suffered a fractured skull and Miss Finegan several fractured ribs. Tate, several times, told the police that he was driving west at a moderate rate and that Miss Finegan, crossing the path of the automobile, became confused and sped back. He said that as she was falling after having been struck the automobile, she knocked Gilroy down. No information was given against Tate.

At Jutland, Beatty with his command of battle cruisers opened the fight on Admiral Von Scheer and tried to maneuver him so that his retreat could be cut off. The Germans got away in the darkness with Beatty still pursuing them.

The Jellicoe-Beatty discussion that followed will furnish conversation for British naval circles for generations to come.

Admiral David Beatty, Baron of the North Sea and of Brooksby, is regarded by the British as a typical British sailor of the traditional bulldog breed and a first-class fighting man. The worst criticism made of his conduct during the war was that he was overbold and did not wait for reinforcements before attacking the enemy.

In the two occasions when the Germans ventured out into the North Sea in force, it was Beatty who attacked them and started the fight.

The force under his command bore the brunt of the fighting and inflicted much of the damage the Germans suffered at the battles of Heligoland and Jutland.

FOUR NEW TOWBOATS ON THEIR WAY HERE

Government Will Attempt to Complete Unfinished River Craft at the Arsenal.

The four towboats being constructed by the Federal Government, for use on the upper Mississippi river in carrying Illinois coal to Northwest railroads, and bringing iron ore to St. Louis blast furnaces, are to be built from Stillwater, Minn., to St. Louis.

Two of the towboats are proceeding under their own power and towing the other two, which have not reached that stage of completion. The Government recently took the towboats from contractors, because of delays in construction, and will complete the boats at the Arsenal here if that can be done before the ice period. If not, they will be taken to some other point south on the river.

The names of the towboats are the Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. Nineteen barges to be used in conjunction with them already are completed.

The new towboats have 2000 indicated horsepower, making them the most powerful on the river. They are stern-wheelers, the shafts for their wheels being the largest ever constructed in the United States for such purpose.

The new boats likely will be given tests in the lower river this winter, possibly in connection with the St. Louis-New Orleans barge line, and will be placed in regular upper river operation next spring.

Man Found Dead of Bullet Wound.

Doctors said he had been dead several hours. A card showing Kvits was a member of Plumbers' Union, No. 26, was found in the room.

CONTRACTS LET FOR 678 MILES OF FEDERAL AID ROAD IN STATE

These Include 79 Projects Distributed Among 43 Counties of Missouri.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 21.—Contracts have been let for the construction of more than 678 miles of Federal aid highway, aggregating a cost of almost $1,000,000, by the State Highway Commission, according to the October statement of Federal aid projects issued by the commission. These contracts include 79 road projects distributed among 43 counties of the State.

The 678 miles of Federal aid projects include 400 miles of highway had been graded, either as permanent road or in preparation for hardsurfacing, up to Sept. 1, and 188 miles of highway had been hardsurfaced.

This amount, according to the statement, is 46.2 per cent of all the road projects contracted for up to that time, considered on a value basis. The distribution of the cost of the Federal aid projects shows that of the approximately $11,000,000 which the projects will cost when completed, the Federal Government must pay $4,890,910, the State government $817,617, and the remainder to be met by the local special road districts.

Gravel and macadam lead all other types of road among the projects on which contracts have been let, with 375.77 miles, which is more than three times as large as any of the other types of construction. Cement concrete construction stands second with 123.61 miles. Other types follow: Graded earth, 111.46 miles; bituminous macadam, 1.44 miles; vitrified brick, 3.37 miles, and asphaltic concrete, 2.72 miles.

Lightning Loss $313,031 in Month of September, State Fire Marshal J. G. Gamber reports. This was the largest loss due to any one cause in the month, and was almost one-third of the total fire loss in the State, which was $1,020,802.

PROHIBITION CAUSES GREAT RISE IN PRICE OF GRAPES

By the Associated Press.
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Oct. 21.—Prohibition has been the cause of great increase in the market price of grapes in the Southwestern Michigan "grape belt," according to H. P. Bannon, representative of a large fruit exchange with headquarters here. F. W. Emerson, secretary-treasurer of the Berrien County Farm Bureau, expressed the same opinion.

Grapes sold for $25 a ton in the vicinity a few years ago, before the advent of prohibition, it was pointed out. Last year the price went to $140 a ton. Although slightly lower this season due to business conditions, the price is rising steadily, in view of a crop that is about one-fifth of normal, it is said.

The demand for grapes with which to make home-made wine is responsible for the increase, according to grape dealers here.

ATTENDANCE AT AUTO SHOW SETS A RECORD

Exhibition Has Been Visited by 73,000 Persons in Five Days
—Many Sales Made.

This is Ladies day at the automobile show in the Chevrolet Building at Union Avenue and Natural Bridge road, and tomorrow, the final day of the exhibition, will be Safety day, under the auspices of the St. Louis Safety Council. The show, which opened last Saturday and has been open every day since, will close at 11 o'clock tomorrow night.

The management today announced the total attendance for the first five days as approximately 73,500, of which 55,500 were paid admissions. This, it was announced, is double the attendance of the February show and the largest of any previous automobile exhibition in this city.

A canvas of the exhibitors last night disclosed that all but two had sold new cars at prices ranging from $1,000 to $10,000. Nine of the new cars were driven from the show. In the renewed car department sales have been fair, but increasing, Wednesday and Thursday being the best days. The sales of both new and renewed cars for the week are below the average of previous years, but much better than was expected.

The exhibitors, without exception, announced business has been brisk with one or two dealers, and good contracts for delivery in winter and spring having been negotiated. It appears from this, they said, that the buyers' strike, which hit the country dealers hard, had been broken, and a big spring business is anticipated.

The truck and commercial car exhibitors also said they had made sales at the show and found interest more general in their department than they had expected, while the access dealers found eager to improve cars with the latest attachments. Heavy buying of stop and turn signals has continued throughout the week. There are a variety of these signals calculated to suit the taste of the most exacting.

The crowd last night was in keeping in point of numbers, interest and

Two exhibits installed late in the week are a gasoline buggy, made in 1892, that still runs with a spasmodic action, and a 1904 Franklin, with

SUES TO SUPPRESS COMPETITOR

Cleaning Company Alleges H. W. Meyer Has Violated Agreement.

A suit to enjoin Henry W. Meyer from operating a dry cleaning establishment at 5008 Delmar boule-

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff purchased Meyer's dry cleaning business paying $2,500 for it; Meyer agreeing not to open a competitive business within a distance of 30 miles. Shortly afterward, however, he opened a dry cleaning shop directly across the street from the one he sold to the plaintiff, the petition sets forth.

The outstanding fact in the higher education of women now, in the opinion of Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, who is visiting St. Louis in the interest of the Vassar fund for increasing instructors' salaries, is that they are devoting themselves to the scientific study of the problems that are essentially theirs—the "administration" of homes and the rearing of children.

Dr. MacCracken voiced his opinion to a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bond Fouke, 20 Westmoreland place, before addressing a group of Vassar alumnae on selected methods of canvassing for the benefit of the fund. Mrs. Fouke was a Vassar graduate.

"The most interesting thing today is women's education," he said. "I

"The question on a tour to Japan last

call it that of the 'sensible woman.' She is studying the things which are of the greatest interest to her; minding her own limitations, not those imposed by law, but by nature. In general, her field has to do with the nurture of the race. It is a fascinating field and the educational specialist—I feel I can call myself one—has the chance to experiment with it as we have not in the older men's curriculum. We are really just on the threshold of this new era.

"At Vassar our girls' activities are divided into five major fields outside the work purely of the classroom and study hall. They are self-government, athletics, religion, current politics and dramatics. The importance of the 'outside' work in making for what we call 'college spirit' must not be underestimated, any more than the actual studies should be. College institutions are today molding community and national institutions and the campus activities have a large share in the molding

"There are no organizations at Vassar to which all the students may not belong. For that reason there are no sororities. The college spirit is a democratic one of co-operation among groups there and with other colleges. The activities are creative, creative instead of being mere boisterous outlets. There are no seats at the athletic field for the girls don't get their fun by proxy; they all take part in the fun. If they give a play they do all the work themselves. Dr. MacCracken arrived in St. Louis from the East yesterday and expects to depart for Kansas City to-morrow. He delivered an address at the dedication of the new $500,000 Rosenfeld Hall, Lindenwood College, St. Charles, yesterday evening. At his address at the Fuchs home he spoke at the home of Leslie Thompson, 23 Kingsbury place, before the committee known as the Friends of Vassar, on the best ways on aiding the fund campaign. He spoke last night at the home of Benjamin Gratz, 5155 Lindell boulevard, his general topic being the place of Vassar women in the community. Gratz is the father of Miss Helen Gratz.

"We are campaigning to raise the total amount in a month from Columbus day, Oct. 12, to Armistice day, Nov. 11. The Rockefeller Foundation offered us $500,000 for increasing salaries if we would raise $2,000,000. We decided our share must be large enough, so increased it by half. We want to place our salary scale on a level with those of the great universities, or as nearly

TEST SHOWS CANDY SENT TO NURSES CONTAINED NO POISON

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The box of candy which was sent to Miss Helen

Rosenfeld, a nurse at the West End

Hospital, and which resulted in the immediate illness of six nurses, was said to contain no poison by Dr. L.

A. Stone, assistant chief of the city's

Health Department laboratories last night.

First examination of the candy at the hospital two days ago when the nurses became ill by Dr. H. B.

Valin, showed the presence of a deadly poison, he said, and this theory was also expressed by Dr. H.

Breakstone, chief surgeon of the hospital.

Dr. Stone, however, said that he had found traces of a drug in the candy, which led to the theory that possibly Miss Rosenfeld had put the drug in the candy herself.

The belief that a jealous ex-husband sent the candy to Miss Rosenfeld has been advanced by postal authorities and they expect to have a confession today.

The handwriting on the wrapper

of the so-called "poison" candy is declared to be similar to that of Benjamin Zimmerman, an ex-soldier admirer of the young woman. He and his brother are both being held.

Three of the victims of the candy

are still confined to their beds in the hospital, but none is now in a serious condition, hospital authorities

Inside Facts About Outdoor Clothes

It is past the time to merely think of Fall and Winter clothes—it's time now to buy and wear them. To tens of thousands of men this simply means coming to Bond's again; to tens of thousands of other men it means shopping around and finally deciding on Bond's.

Bond's Suits and Overcoats Are Distributed Direct

Our twelve busy outlet stations keep our factories running to capacity. We do not sell to retailers—we reach the consumer direct. This naturally cuts down the expense of marketing and every man who buys a Bond Suit or Overcoat gets the benefit of it.

Rest assured you'll not be unduly urged to buy; our salesmen are trained to give you the highest type of helpful service in selecting the suit or overcoat that will meet your demand and requirement—but if you come in just to "look" you'll not be forced to buy. Bond's clothes are bought—not sold. Get the difference!

Two-Pant Suits

Many of Bond's Suits have an extra pair of pants if you want them. Because the extra pair doubles the wear—they are a good investment.

Separate Trousers $4, $5, $6

"Bond's Juniors" are suits and overcoats made to meet the particular requirements of youngsters just wearing their first long pants—and college and high school chaps demand something different.

VETERAN MISSIONARIES ENTERTAIN IN CHINESE

The Rev. Hamilton Littell and Bishop Partridge Amuse Episcopal Delegates.

Two veteran missionaries, giving a spirited dialogue in Chinese, and telling Chinese anecdotes, furnished amusement to the audience which gathered last night in the Artists' Guild little theater, to see two short plays on mission themes presented. The Rev. Hamilton Littell of Hang-chow, China, and Bishop Sidney C. Partridge of Kansas City, formerly a missionary in the Orient, were the enterainers.

The audience comprised of Bishops, clergymen and lay delegates to the Synod of the Province of the Southwest of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which ends its three-day meeting this afternoon in St. Peter's Church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue.

The Rev. Mr. Littell, in a talk on Chinese medicine, said the study of anatomy by dissection was inconsistent with ancestor-worship, and therefore that the Chinese physicians had to guess at things. For instance, they felt the body, and finding a considerable number of bones, they set down 365 as the exact number, on the theory that there must be one for each day of the year.

He described the division in medical amusements.

ROAD SAYS GARBAGE ANNOYS PASSENGERS

Missouri Pacific Contends Drawback of Handling City Refuse Justifies 11-Cent Rate.

Hauling of the city's garbage to Summit, in Washington County, 62 miles southwest of St. Louis, affects the attractiveness of the Missouri Pacific Railroad as a carrier and entitles it to a high garbage rate, attorneys for the road said yesterday to the Public Service Commission in combatting the city's effort to have the rate reduced from 11 cents to 4 cents per hundredweight.

It was pointed out that passenger trains, including the road's most-advertised train, the Sunshine Special, pass the garbage dump, often at meal times.

The road is contending that the road's rate on other refuse similar to garbage is 4 cents per hundredweight and the city should be required to pay no more. From Feb. 15 to Oct. 15, the Missouri Pacific hauled 70,490,750 pounds of St. Louis garbage on which the city paid $77,461.72. At the 4-cent rate, it would have paid only $28,167.90.

Citizens of Washington County are expected to appear before the commission to state their objections to the city sending its garbage to Summit. They say it has an offensive odor. Guy Caron, owner of a hog farm on which the garbage is consumed, testified that virtually all the residents within one-half mile of the farm were dead. It is said that the vicinity of the farm was sparsely settled. He now has between 5000 and 6000 hogs and has had as many as 15,000.

ADVERTISEMENT PEPTO-MANGAN KEEPS BLOOD PURE

Growing Children
Need Plenty of Red
Cells in Blood

When the young body is growing children frequently experience weakness. Girls and boys sometimes play too hard and over-tax their systems. They become pale, weak, and sickly. They lose their appetites, become languid, and are not able to make progress in school work. "Growing too fast" is often true. It is most important to keep the blood of growing girls and boys in healthy state. Pepto-Mangan keeps the blood pure. The red cells in the blood are increased. They cause a glowing, oxygenated, all parts of the body, and wholesome, youthful blood, against a clear complexion, bright eyes and buoyant spirits. Sold both in liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package.

See the Winner of the "Beauty Contest" at the Reo Booth

At the International Wheat Show, Wichita, Kansas, last week, the new Reo Sedan was awarded first prize in its respective class in the automobile fashion parade.

Over one hundred cars were entered in the contest, representing all makes and prices of cars.

In scoring—appearances of the car—smoothness of operation—ease of control—all were taken into consideration.

The achievement of the Reo entry is a tribute, therefore, to the mechanical excellence of this model as well as to its beautiful appearance, exquisite finish and appointments.

We have always emphasized the extreme ease of operation of the Reo control system, and it is largely on account of this system that Reo automobiles are so popular with women drivers.

Add to this ease of control, the luxury and style now obtainable in the new Reo models and you have a car to delight the heart of the most critical connoisseur.

See this Reo at the Show, together with the other three new Reo models—the four-passenger Coupe, the Touring Car and the latest of all Reo models—the new "Business Coupe."

Compare them side by side, and point for point with all other entries, and you will readily concede that the award to the Reos at the Wichita Show was amply justified and merited.

You will find also in the Reo Booth that mighty Speed Wagon that "fits every business"—that dominates the field of hauling and delivering.

4 STUDENTS KILLED IN COLLISION OF AUTO AND TRAIN

Youths From University of Chicago Lose Lives Near Milford, Ill., When on Way to Princeton, N. J.

STRING OF BOX CARS OBSCURED TRACK

Young Men Had Bought Car for 800-Mile Day-and-Night Ride to Chicago-Princeton Football Game.

By the Associated Press
MILFORD, Ill., Oct. 21.—A string of box cars standing on a siding and obscuring a view of the track is the explanation given today by Louis Roberts of Chicago for the automobile collision near Milford, Ill., with a Chicago & Eastern Illinois train, which resulted in the death of four University of Chicago students and the serious injury of one, his companion.

Roberts said that yesterday morning he and the other boys "chipped in" and bought the car that they might drive to Princeton, N. J., to see the Chicago-Princeton football game. They had not said they intended to drive day and night to make the 800 miles in time.

The list of dead includes Thomas Monlaw of Chicago, Harold Skinner of Oak Park, Ill.; Stanwood Johnson of Minneapolis, and Herschel Hopkins from Oregon.

Roberts is to return to Chicago today with the bodies of the four young men. Walter Reckless, who was seriously injured, is in a hospital at Waukegan, Ill., where he was taken immediately after the accident. Roberts has been hurt.

Monlaw was a sophomore at the university and a son of Dr. William J. Monlaw, head of the department of physical education at the university school. Hopkins was a sophomore. Skinner, a sophomore, was a son of Elwood M. Skinner of Oak Park. Johnston, a senior, was a son of the dean of men at the University of Minnesota. Reckless is a post graduate student, and member of Phi Beta Kappa scholarship fraternity, and of the Beta Theta Psi fraternity, as were all of the young men killed.

Four Women Killed When Auto Is Hit by Train.

By the Associated Press
BALDWIN, Me., Oct. 21.—An automobile shopping trip to Portland ended today in the death of four women and severe injuries to a fifth when their machine was struck by a passenger train at Mattock's station, in a rainstorm.

LAMBS 90 CENTS EACH AND COWS SELL FOR $9 IN ANATOLIA

Food Found to Be Plentiful in Region Through Which Greek Army Passed.

WITH GREEK ARMY IN THE FIELD, Sept. 24.—Americans who find life expensive would secure unbounded relief if they could come to Anatolia.

In the area through which the Greek army passed in its advance on Ankara, lambs sell for 60 cents each, chickens for 12 cents, whole cows for $9 and eggs for half a cent. It is where food is found in greatest abundance and at prices such as America never heard of before the war.

The fertile fields of Anatolia rival those of the most productive American state. Wheat is the principal commodity of the thrifty Turkish and Kurdish farmers. They raise sufficient quantities to feed a continent. When King Constantine's army made its memorable 300-mile advance from Ushak into the heart of the Karaman country, it found hundreds of thousands of sheep and goats.

It is the plan of the Greek Government to market this huge treasure in an effort to bring the Greek currency back to par.

The Greeks also found innumerable numbers of cattle and sheep. Cows, oxen and water buffalo swarm the plains of Asia Minor, while the famous Angora goats and Caraman sheep are so numerous that they sell for about the price of a pound of mutton in any American city.

It is this great agricultural wealth that has made it possible for Mustapha Kemal's army to subsist so long without outside assistance. It is also this great abundance that has kept the Greek forces going. Their onward march to Ankara would not have been possible upon the meager food supplies they have been able to transport from Smyrna and Greece.

The only thing scarce in Anatolia, particularly in the southern part, is water. The territory over which the Greek troops made their recent remarkable detour in order to catch Kemal's army is made up largely of deserts and barren hills, with water only at distant intervals. For days the weary soldiers had to march under the burning Asia sun without a drop of water to relieve their parched throats.

SIX INDICTMENTS CHARGE
EMBEZZLEMENT OF $5500
Former Fish Company Clerk Named
in Bills—Herman Richter
Also Indicted.

Six indictments charging grand larceny and embezzlement of amounts totaling $5500 were returned today against Eugene P. Rigdon, former assistant cashier in the local office of the Booth Fisheries Co., who was arrested last week in Decatur, Ill., on complaint of the company after an audit of his accounts had disclosed discrepancies.

Herman Richter, who conducted a real estate business at 1809 Olive street, was charged in two indictments with false pretenses and third degree forgery. He was arrested following complaint by Isadore A. Schumaker of 4212 Page boulevard that bonds amounting to $180, which he had purchased from Richter, were not what they purported to be. Schumaker said that he bought the bonds from Richter in a real estate deal.

One indictment charging robbery in the first degree was returned against Nathan O'Neil and Albert Houston in connection with a holdup Sept. 23 at the grocery of Nathan Ostrow, 1501 Singleton street, when $50 and a watch were stolen.

James Williamson, proprietor of a hotel at Freeburg, Ill., yesterday swore out a warrant in Justice of the Peace Wangeling's name for Richter against the negro, who, he said, obtained $23 from Mrs. Williamson on a check for 23 cents. The negro received the check from the Illinois Central Railroad Co., Williamson said, and told him to cash it, stating it was for $23. When a constable reached Freeburg, the negro had disappeared.

ELECTRICIAN FOUND MURDERED IN WOODS NEAR JEFFERSON CITY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 21.—The body of Albert P. Anderson, 23 years old, an electrician of Jefferson City, was found in the brush about 300 yards from a road three miles east of Jefferson City yesterday, with five bullet holes in the chest and head. Anderson, who is unmarried, had been missing since Tuesday night. His automobile had stood on the road nearby since that time and the suspicion of neighbors was aroused. The body apparently had been dragged from the vicinity of the machine to where it was found, as articles of his clothing were found between those points. The identity of the murderer and a motive for the act, are unknown to the police.

MAN SLEEPING IN MAPLEWOOD BARN IS BURNED TO DEATH

Albert Walters, 51 years old, was burned to death when the barn in which he was sleeping, at the home of John H. Booth, 2325 Laclede road, Maplewood, was destroyed by fire early this morning.

Walters lived in St. Louis until an attack of influenza left him with weakened lungs and necessitated outdoor life. He did chores for Booth and slept in an upper room of the barn, which was heated with an oil stove. It is supposed that the fire was caused by this stove. When discovered at 4:50 a.m. flames enveloped the upper part of the barn, which was quickly destroyed.

SEARCH OF HOME WITHOUT WARRANT TAKEN TO HIGH COURT

Reported to the Post-Dispatch.

FREMONT, O. C.—The Supreme

Court is asked by Jacob Farrari to determine whether the police have the right to raid and search a man's home for liquor without a warrant.

At this time the raiders, working under the State law, have dispensed with warrants. Farrari was making

how brew when the officers found him, and he was fined $100.

He maintains that the constitutional guarantee that persons shall be secure in their houses against unreasonable search and seizures and that no warrant shall issue for a search unless upon oath and an affirmation describing the place to be searched is in force even when for-bidden liquor is sought.

FAR ABOVE AVERAGE
IN MENTALITY TEST

GIRL MAKES UNUSUAL MENTAL TEST RECORD

17-Year-Old Freshman at Stephens College Answers 151 of 168 Thurstone Questions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Dorothy Dean

Wyatt, freshman at Stephens College, answered 151 out of 168 questions submitted to the freshman class of her college in the Thurston intellectual test. This is an efficiency test used at over 500 colleges and universities in the United States. The average number of questions answered was 80 by freshmen.

Another part of the test is the reading of an article which the class

has never seen before and is given to judge the student's ability as to grasping salient points in the article in one hurried reading. Miss Wyatt received the highest grade in this test, correctly pointing out 18 of 20

important points.

Miss Wyatt will soon take the musical test which is also a part of the Thurstone standard. This test involves five major points which are

time, consonance, memory, pitch and intensity. The musical test is one which has saved many dollars and much time for girls who have entered Stephens College for the purpose of taking advantage of the musical school. The test has quickly proven to girls who thought they could play a piano or take voice that they did not know how to count

time; that they possessed no musical talent and that to put in time on a musical course would be an unnecessary waste and expenditure.

Tests Talents of Students.

An official of the college said, in explaining the test: "It is given for the same purpose that a physician tests a patient. A teacher or teacher may know about the ability and general talents of a pupil in planning their courses of study. Last year we found a number of students who did not know the passage of a second from that of three seconds.

It meant time and money saved."

While Miss Wyatt was a pupil at the Rockport School she made only

"E" on her grade card. This information came from the college authorities and not from her. Miss

Wyatt is modest and answered leading questions but volunteered no information about herself.

Asked if she had made any preparation for the test, she replied: "No, I did not know that they gave the test here. I had a test in an answering questions last year at high school and made second highest grade in it, but it was much simpler

than the test I have just undergone."

In answer to a question as to whether she had confined her reading to fiction, magazines, newspapers

or the classics, Miss Wyatt said:

"I have read many books, but being when I was a mere child and she is only 17 now, I have read

a great deal of fiction, including all the books written by Harold Bell

Wright, Margaret McCarter and</p

LEAK IN OIL TANK CAUSES
SHORT-LIVED DREAM OF WEALTHSeepage Into Well Leads Residents of Stamford, Neb., to Anticipate Boom for Town.STAMFORD, Neb.—Dreams of wealth that have haunted residents of this town have been dissipated. For weeks a well on the premises owned by Henry Klein, banker, has been yielding water heavily tainted with oil. Samples of it sent to the laboratories at Lincoln were returned with the statement that the fluid was carrying a heavy content of oil.

A stock company with $50,000 capital was formed without any trouble, but just before drilling began it was discovered that the distillate tank at the city waterworks had been leaking and that by underground seepage, the waste had been conveyed to the Klein water well. The company has been disbanded.

LOYD GEORGE TO DEPART FOR THE U. S. ON NOV. 5

British Premier Expects to Reach Washington for Opening of Armament Conference, Nov. 11.

AMERICA READY TO GREET GUESTS

Several Expected to Reach Capital Sunday; Hughes, Root, Lodge and Underwood to Confer Today.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Prime Minister Lloyd George has decided definitely, it was stated today, to depart for Washington Nov. 5, on the liner Manana, arriving in time, it is expected, for the afternoon session of the Armaments Conference on its opening day, Nov. 11.

It is expected A. J. Balfour, of the British delegation, will accompany the Prime Minister. Mrs. Lloyd George probably will sail with her husband. The Premier's plan is naturally subject to change if unforeseen circumstances should arise, and George expects to be absent a week, including the time required for the journey to and from America.

The Manana is due to arrive at New York the morning of Nov. 11 and in these circumstances it is believed in some quarters here that the opening of the conference may be postponed until the afternoon of that day to admit the British delegates present when the session begins. The secretariat of the delegation and most of the other members of the entourage will leave England next Wednesday.

Washington Preparing to Receive Foreign Delegates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The American delegation to the conference on limitation of armaments in Washington. No political faction of any importance proposes such an innovation. "A responsible diplomat or politician has suggested it. Withdrawal is simply not an issue in Japan."

It is true, of course, that not so long ago Japan pledged herself to the independence of Korea. Ten years before the Russo-Japanese war broke out Japan signed a treaty affirming her desire and intention "to maintain the independence of Korea on a firm footing."

Four years later Japan and Russia agreed to "recognize" definitely the sovereignty and entire independence of Korea and pledged themselves mutually to abstain from all direct interference in the internal affairs of that country."

Another four years and the first treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Japan again affirmed Korean independence.

Three times, specifically—yet, on Aug. 22, 1910, five years after the close of the Russo-Japanese War, the Government of Japan formally announced the annexation of Korea.

Meeting of Equals.

It has again been emphasized that conference is to be a meeting of equals and that it involves a voting majority rule. All parties to it reach agreement on any step it is said, and no delegation will stand against it on any whatever. The whole purpose is to reach by discussion such a mutual understanding on points taken up that a mutual agreement will flow naturally from understanding.

The chief ground upon which this annexation has subsequently been defended is that the national security demanded it. The international situation had changed, a new danger menaced the Japanese Empire—and away went the premise upon which these earlier promises had been based.

Russia the Bugaboo.

It was Russia, principally, that alarmed the Japanese. Russia, with millions of acres of land still undeveloped, was pushing east for more. The war of 1904-5 had checked her. But to the Japanese it did not seem necessary to remove the threat of future danger.

Moreover, a few years before the war, Great Britain moved into Weihaiwei and Germany into Tsingtao (in the Province of Shantung). These two places are on the coast of China—not away off to the north or south, but directly in the latitude of Tokio. They were unimportant places when the European nations took them over. But from her small island Japan watched both Weihaiwei and Tsingtao grow to great modern ports, havens for a navy.

When Beauty Arrives.

Admiral Beatty of the Royal British Navy, who also is to attend the Legion convention at Kanagawa, will arrive from New York between 2 and 3 and Vice Adm. R. E. L. and General Kataoka will arrive from the coast about an hour later.

New York will also be Gen.

of Italy and Lieutenant-General Jacques of Belgium.

General Beatty's party will be the

The delegates will also be met by

Koreans to Make Voice Heard at Arms Conference Against Further Occupation by Japan

"Government" at Shanghai, Unable to Function in Its Own Territory, Will Send Envoys to Washington in Effort to Gain Independence by Seeking Sympathy of U. S.

What of Japan? What will she do to help bring about the settlement of vexing issues at the Conference to Limit Armament to be held in Washington in November? Are her differences with the United States irreconcilable? Is she ruled by her militarists? Is she Prussianized? Does she really hate us? What is her attitude toward China? Is she seeking world dominion?

These questions and others are being answered in a series of articles specially written for The Post-Dispatch by Charles Merz, until recently as editor of the New Republic, a student of world politics and a writer of ability, who has just returned from Japan and the Far East.

The eighth of his articles follows:

By Charles Merz.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1921, by the Press Pub. Co.)

WILL the Korean question come before the Arms Conference which meets in Washington next month?

The Koreans will make a determined effort to see that it does. There is a "Provisional Government of the Republic of Korea." Its headquarters is in Shanghai, 400 miles from any border of Korea, because if any such "Provisional Government" were to be set up in Korea itself it would promptly be put in jail.

This group of men with headquarters in Shanghai will have representatives in Washington when the Pacific Conference meets. They will maintain that the conference cannot afford to overlook Korea—that here is a situation making for trouble, one of those "Far Eastern questions" which the conference must discuss.

Whether they will gain their point and attract the attention of the conference is very doubtful. England, France and Italy are not likely to bring the question to Japan, certifying that the Korean Nationalists are American. A suggestion of Korea appears in the outline which the American Department of State has proposed as a program for the conference.

Nevertheless, whether or not the delegates of the Korean Nationalists succeed in making their voices heard in Washington, the Korean question remains a live issue in the relations of Japan and the United States. That is true, because Korea figures so prominently in American criticism of Japan. And for this reason it is necessary to discuss Japan's Korean policy in a series of articles such as the present one.

What is Japan doing in Korea? First of all, staying there.

There is not the slightest chance of Japan's withdrawing from Korea as a result of the conference in Washington. No political faction of any importance proposes such an innovation. "A responsible diplomat or politician has suggested it. Withdrawal is simply not an issue in Japan."

It is true, of course, that not so long ago Japan pledged herself to the independence of Korea. Ten years before the Russo-Japanese war broke out Japan signed a treaty affirming her desire and intention "to maintain the independence of Korea on a firm footing."

It is largely true. Korea, for instance, had whittled away her forests before Japan arrived. Under Japanese direction some 22,000,000 trees were planted in two years alone. Model agricultural farms have been started, modern methods of farming demonstrated by the employment of experts. New industries have been launched. That the country as a whole improved in prosperity is shown in part by figures of its foreign trade. In the first four years of Japanese control the value of Korea's exports and imports practically doubled. And since that time further improvement has been

It is true, of course, that Japanese immigrants in Korea, Japanese companies in Korea, Japanese companies at home, all shared comfortably in this expansion. They were meant to. But the material gain of the Koreans themselves, even if considered altogether incidental, was nevertheless substantial.

And in other activities of the Government, Koreans shared quite as much as any Japanese such activities as, for instance, as the building of roads, harbors and hospitals, the extension of post and telegraph systems, the improvement of sanitation, the projects as these there is no denying that Korea under the Japanese rule is in advance of Korea under the Koreans.

It is true, of course, that Japanese annexation of Korea, which is now for the study, and it is expected that they will employ necessary power to employ necessary measures to be taken to effect the independence of Korea.

Another four years and the first treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Japan again affirmed Korean independence.

Three times, specifically—yet, on Aug. 22, 1910, five years after the close of the Russo-Japanese War, the Government of Japan formally announced the annexation of Korea.

The chief ground upon which this annexation has subsequently been defended is that the national security demanded it. The international situation had changed, a new danger menaced the Japanese Empire—and away went the premise upon which these earlier promises had been based.

Bond Feature Carefully Prepared.

The bond feature has been carefully prepared and goes into every detail in regard to the method of printing, issuing, selling and returning of the bonds. Because of the fact that there probably will be no funds available to meet the first interest payment the bill provides that the first interest coupon shall fall due one year after sale. The bonds may be registered with the Secretary of State.

It is believed by bond experts who have passed on the measure that the bond feature is absolutely iron clad and the best that has ever been written into a Missouri law. In event the plan of dating the first interest coupon a year in advance is not desirable two other methods of paying the first interest are open as substitutes. One is to pay the interest out of the sale of the bonds and then replace the sum paid when the taxes come due. The other is to pay it from the general revenue fund and replace the fund when the tax comes in.

The bill provides for the levy of a direct tax against all taxable property in the State to retire the bonds in the 20-year period. It is estimated that about a two and one-half cents on the hundred dollar levy will be necessary for this purpose.

Citizens Operate Flour Mill.

With this machine the civil administration could not cope, even on those occasions when it may have wanted to. Police power was all important, and that power belonged to the military organization. Korea accordingly, was less a colony than a "zone of occupation."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JOLIN, Mo., Oct. 21.—The Missouri ex-service bonus bill providing for the issuing of $15,000,000 and also the administrative features necessary to a bonus to the ex-service men and women of Missouri as provided in a constitutional amendment adopted in the special election last August, was last night completed by Senator Howard Gray and copies sent to Gov. Hyde.

It is expected that a conference will be called by the Governor in Jefferson City next week at which will be invited members of the Legislature, members of the Legion Executive Committee and such representatives of bonding companies as may be interested in the features of the bill.

The bill was drawn by Senator Gray, assisted by former Attorney-General Rutherford, a bonding expert of St. Louis, at the "quest of J. E. Williams, past State commander of the American Legion who was delegated by the Legion Executive Committee to push the work to completion.

As predicted here by scientists, the expedition will hardly be able to go further until next spring, and Col. Bury's dispatch substantiates a report from similar sources, published here today, to the effect that the expedition will return to Darjeeling the latter part of October.

As predicted here by scientists, the expedition have overcome the greatest difficulties in carrying their quest as far as they have. Though Col. Bury only lightly touches upon it, the difficulties of climbing or even living at an altitude of 22,000 feet are with them all the time.

During a short improvement of the weather, Messrs. Bullock and Mallory moved up to the next camp, established at 20,000 feet, only to be driven back the next day by a still heavier snow. In those days of forced inaction we climbed a rocky ridge to the southward, but acrobatics at more than 19,000 feet, though excellent eating when a few came to the pot.

Climbing at 19,000 Feet Exhausting.

On day I saw a gray wolf stalk them but on seeing me he leaped away. I also met red fox and hare at more than 19,000 feet.

KOREANS TO MAKE VOICE HEARD AT ARMS CONFERENCE

suppressed the press, made arbitrary arrests, meted out justice as if it were an army camped on hostile ground. Its activities finally culminated in the revolution of 1919—a revolution which swept the country down with all the brutality which a dominant Power can occasionally display when its authority is unexpectedly challenged.

There is little use reviving all the details. A charitable explanation can attribute much that happened to Japan's inexperience in governing a subject race—Japan's tendency to fly into a panic. It is enough to note that the revolution left its aftermath. The fashion in which it was put down is today bitterly remembered in Asia, as the German regime is remembered in Belgium, or the Amritsar massacre in India. It puts good-will at the same disadvantage in the future.

The revolution of 1919 brought a change. Japan sent a new Governor-General to Korea.

This man was Admiral Baron

Saito. It is against some unwritten law for Governor-General, whether they fall from East or West, to admit explicitly that their predecessors have ever made a blunder. Baron Saito did not break the rule. But he implied his recognition of the situation by announcing, immediately upon arrival, "I want to introduce some reforms in administration in conformity with the times, as well as with the trend of popular thought."

Effect Many Changes.

Acting upon this program he effected certain changes. The power of Korean Judges has been extended; the posts of principles of common schools, hitherto reserved exclusively for Japanese, have been opened to Koreans too; the regulation requiring officials and teachers to wear uniforms and swords has been done away with. This latter reform may seem unimportant. But to a Korean schoolboy, eyeing that sword as it dangled between his teacher's legs, dragging the Japanese uniform into the schoolroom must have made the place seem prison.

In the two years of his administration Baron Saito has put his hand to other tasks. He has made various innovations. The most important of this is reorganization of the police administration of the country. As an institution existing independently of the Governor-General, the police headquarters has been abolished. Military officers in charge of police affairs have been relieved of duty, and replaced by civil officers. It is quite true that in the ranks certain "soldiers" have simply removed their uniforms and become "policemen." Still, division authority has been done away with and responsibility definitely fixed.

Honest Effort Seen.

How far any of these reforms has actually gone in practice to improve the lot of the Koreans, whether Baron Saito's effort is an honest one—these are two questions upon which it is difficult to agree in the East. My own impression is first, that Baron Saito is making an honest effort; second, that two factors particularly handicap him.

He is making an honest effort. I believe, because an honest effort is much to be desired not only by the more liberal Japanese but by the Imperialists themselves. To certain blood-and-thunder patriots the idea of school teachers swashbuckling around Korea in uniform and swords may have its attraction—as well as the idea of six Colonels court martializing some bewildered peasant to be flogged—but to any—save the super-patriots such acts have little to command them.

Japan, as a whole, believes control of Korea essential to her safety; sees in Korea a chance for dividends. Likes the idea of "an empire." The way to hold Korea is by making an honest effort to do away with discontent. Even by those Japanese who do not care a fig about Koreans for their own sake, it is deemed wise today, after the revolution, to show the world that Korea is at peace, that the Koreans have as much to be happy about as any other people governed by a foreign race.

Would Remodel Korea.

The new administration, like the old one, is dominated by the theory that Koreans can be made over into Japanese. That is the motive behind censorship of the press and the use of Japanese language and text books in many of the schools. Once more the experiment is to be made of one race assimilating another.

While the chief Japanese officials in Korea represent a new regime, the medium by which they govern is very much the old machine. By the time a theory is translated into practice, by the time policy proceeds from the capital to the villages of a distant province, it may or may not be the same. It is the vast army of officials, not their captains in Seoul, who come in contact with the people of Korea.

Suppose, however, that by change of policy and by change of personnel Baron Saito is able to overcome in large measure these two chief obstacles that now bar the way to removing discontent, what then?

His task will be far simpler, but it will still be just begun.

For after all there are many thousands of Koreans whose chief protest is not that Japan rules Korea badly but that she rules at all. These thousands are irreconcilable.

They have traditions of nationhood behind them; they belong to a particularly homogeneous race. They do not hoist the Rising Sun on the national holidays of Japan. They refuse in large measure to participate in any plan "for a gradual extension of self-government." They do not want a gradual extension of anything. They want their country.

They will not get it, unless you are ready to assume that some international Santa Claus will take it forcibly from Japan and give it back to them. It is not one of those questions that can be debated. Japan feels she needs Korea for her own protection, believes that if she herself withdraws some stronger Power would step in.

So the situation stands: Japan determined to stay; the irreconcilables of Korea determined to have her out. Japanese rule has brought certain material advantages to Korea. Can Baron Saito point to that record and rule with sufficient understanding to win over the irreconcilables?

That is a question for the future. For the present, with the circumstances what they are, it will not be all at once that "Korean discontent" will disappear.

TENNESSEE'S SUNDAY LAW TO BE TESTED IN THE COURTS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Tennessee's Sunday "blue law" is to be tested in the courts. Fifty merchants, west of Gay street, were cited before a magistrate charged with violating the old law. They waived preliminary hearings and decided to select one case as a test in the courts. The merchants say the law is obsolete. The stores which were cited for being open were mostly confectionery shops.

Noah W. Cooper, who recently announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in Tennessee for the United States Senate, has in several talks strongly advocated rigid issue.

Sunday observance legislation and the question will be an important issue.

MUSTY BOOK SHOWS LINCOLN
OWNED LAND IN LINCOLN, ILL.

Signature on Tax Receipt for $2.40;
Tax on Same Property Last Year Was $114.15.

By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, ILL., Oct. 21.—Proof that Abraham Lincoln owned property other than the "Lincoln Homestead" in Springfield has been established here. County Clerk D. S.
Mowery has uncovered in the basement of the Logan County Courthouse a musty tax collector's book of 1858 containing Lincoln's signature on a tax receipt for $2.40 on property in Lincoln.

The property is located on the south side of the Courthouse Square.
The present owner, D. H. Harris, paid $114.15 in taxes on it last year.

In tracing the history of the Lincoln lot it was learned that it was sold by Thomas Clark of Springfield to James Primm in 1857. Primm borrowed $400 from Lincoln, and was unable to pay the note, deeded the property instead.

In 1874 Mrs. Lincoln deeded the lot to her son, Robert Todd Lincoln, who later sold it to Capt. D. H.
Harts. The latter's son, who is president of the Lincoln Commercial Club, now owns the property.

Dr. Farrand Says U. S. Must Accept International Responsibility.

By the Associated Press.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 21.—A plea for America to accept her share of international responsibility was made yesterday by Dr. Livingston Farrand in his inaugural address as president of the university.

"Unless as Americans we accept our share of the responsibility, disaster is inevitable," he said. Taking as his theme the critical situation in which European civilization finds itself after the war, Dr. Farrand said:

"The logic of the situation is entirely clear. The world is being tried as with fire. Society is in revolution. Our civilization is not only under indictment, it is fighting for
very existence."

"Solution is not to be reached by local adjustment. Acceptance of international responsibility is unavoidable. Dogmatism and intolerance, whether national or individual, will be fatal. An informed citizenship—
a citizenship imbued with the ideals of true democracy and that spirit and habit of service without which democracy cannot stand—is indispensable."

tirely clear. The world is being tried as with fire. Society is in revolution. Our civilization is not only
under indictment, it is fighting for
very existence."

"In our present situation they are the saving institutions of society. No responsibility could be more grave
than opportunity to hold back progress.

"It is for leadership in such emergencies that the great sisterhood of universities represented
here today has been established."

"To assume its part of the burden and to discharge its share of this responsibility, Cornell resolutely sets its face, confident of the outcome—more convinced than ever of the inspired wisdom of its founders—and confident first and last in the vitality of those ideals of individual opportunity, of liberty, and of justice upon which our American democracy is founded, and without which life itself is not worth while."

NEGRO WOUNDED IN THWARTING ATTEMPT TO ROB THE MAIL

Driver of Lake Charles (La.) Wagon, Yell Junction to Street and Exchange Shows With Men. By the Associated Press.
LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 21.—Walter Ambrose, negro driver of a mail wagon, was probably fatally wounded last night in thwarting an attempt to rob mail pouches in his possession for delivery to the K. C. S. railway and the Southern Pacific railway.

Ambrose had just turned the corner, a block away from the post office and headed for the main business street of the city, when two men, wearing masks, appeared, one grabbing the bridle of his horse and the other leveling a pistol at him with the command to throw up his hands. Ambrose grabbed his gun and jumped from the wagon, drawing his pistol. The robbers opened fire on him, two shots taking effect, but Ambrose returned the fire, and chased one of the bandits on foot for a block before he fell from his wound. The robbers escaped.

Other subjects under consideration included a recommendation that the church establish a pension fund, the payments to retired ministers, to be not less than $1000 annually. Every state in the Union and the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario are represented at the convention.

11 VOTES IN SYNOD AGAINST DISARMAMENT

Kansas City Pastor Says World Is in No Shape to Guarantee Cessation of War.

At the closing sessions today of the Episcopal Church Synod of the Province of the Southwest, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, "The Church's Work at Home and Abroad" was the general subject of discussion for the forenoon, and "The Church and the Social Question" was the subject for afternoon discussion.

A resolution favoring limitation of armament was adopted, after spirited discussion and earnest opposition, by a vote of 21 to 11. It took the form of a request to Bishop Tuttle, president of the Synod, to communicate with the other Bishops in regard to having the resolution drawn up and voted upon by all congregations for presentation to President Harding and the Disarmament Committee.

Bishop Wise of Kansas delivered a speech in support of the resolution. The Rev. Ernest J. Kraft of Kansas City spoke in opposition. He declared the world was in no shape to guarantee cessation of war and that it was wise for the United States to be prepared for any eventuality. "I am not one," he said, "who believes in instructing the Government of the United States in these matters. I believe that those men who oversee in their vision the situation among nations will know whether it is wise for us to limit our armament or to disarm totally."

Bishop Capers of West Texas, in an address on "service," strongly urged the assembling of society women as misuse of time.

"It seems to me," he said, "the time has come for women of our church to so condemn the mispent time of their sisters as to make it impossible for women of wealth and culture to idle away their time, evening after evening, playing cards for money."

"The men who played dice at the foot of the cross for the seamless garment of Christ was not half so guilty as are men and women today who, in the face of the sorrow of God, in the face of the terrible cataclysm that has fallen upon the world, have no better way of spending the time and thoughts than in games of chance." The most vocal opposition to the progress of the kingdom of God is the influence of women in social life in the manner in which they mislead silly people. The church of God is getting an almost negligible percentage of the time and thought of the people of God."

ROMANCE IN SALE OF OLD STAMP TO AMERICAN IN LONDON

Collector Runs Across Letter Grandfather Wrote to Grandmother Before Marriage.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Several American stamp collectors have been in London lately eagerly trying to secure the pick of English collections of United States' stamps. One reason for the present boom in American stamps, a well-known London stamp dealer explains, is the fact that the older issues are remarkably well engraved.

"Americans," this dealer continued, "are particularly keen on issues depicting scenes in their national history."

The 24-cent issue of 1869 shows a picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It is so excellent a specimen of the engraver's art that its present quotation is $4. (normally $20) unused, and $2. used.

"A few specimens of this stamp are worth $100, for a quaint reason. By inadvertence, a very small number were originally printed with the picture upside down; and the few still existing fetch the enhanced figure.

The 90-cent stamp of the 1869 issue, with no embossing, and brown gum, bearing a picture of Abraham Lincoln, is in great demand at $20.

"Quite a little romance was attached to the sale of an old stamp to an American collector the other day."

"Looking through one of the 13 volumes of our largest collection, he suddenly caught sight of an old envelope bearing an 1847 George Washington stamp."

"That is certainly remarkable," he exclaimed. "That letter is addressed to my grandmother; and it

Can France Disarm?

"France must remain armed as long as her security has not been assured," announces Premier Briand, who is expected to head the French delegation to the arms parley. "No country more than ours desires to limit military burdens," he declares; but he goes on to make it no less emphatically clear that any reduction of the size of the French army must depend upon the elimination of the German menace—in other words, an Allied understanding for the protection of France. Says the Paris Temps, expressing a point of view echoed in dozens of its contemporaries: "The security of France means the peace of Europe. It is a basic condition of economic and political solidarity in the world."

President Harding's call to the Washington Conference says that the question of naval armament will "naturally have first place," altho "it has been thought best not to exclude questions pertaining to other armament." How naval disarmament can end war on land seems to puzzle the French, who recall that Belgium and France were not invaded by a navy in 1914, and who at this moment see the jealous nations of Europe facing each other within easy marching distance. "France has not the slightest intention of abandoning what she considers her just right to security," says Paul Scott Mowrer in October Current Opinion. Unless France can be assured of the moral support of the Allies, "the French delegates will not discuss the reduction of land armament," declares the New York Tribune.

The uncompromising attitude of France in this instance finds considerable support among American editors. But while we find the general attitude of the American press toward France's position to be one of sympathy, in many instances this sympathy is mingled with misgiving. If Premier Briand adheres to his stand, avers the New York World, "then, so far at least as land armaments are concerned, the Washington Conference fails from the start." Equally pessimistic, but less sympathetic, is Mr. Hearst's New York American, which proclaims that "it may confidently be taken for granted that neither Japan, England nor France has the remotest intention of abandoning imperialism or militarism at the Washington Conference," and insists that "the United States should not make any sort of alliance with any other Power or Powers." There is "not a chance" of the United States entering into any such alliance, declares the Des Moines Register.

In the leading article in this week's LITERARY DIGEST, October 22nd, all shades of opinion, as voiced by the French and American press, are given.

Probationary Arrests Man He Discovers Hiding in Dr. W.
J. Gundelach's Home.

Probationary Patrolman William Genall, who has been walking a beat only 11 days, found the front door of the residence of Dr. William J. Gundelach, 4937 Forest Park boulevard, ajar shortly after noon yesterday. Dr. Gundelach and his family are in Europe. Genall had been told of this fact, so he called a neighboring houseman and had him watch the front door while he went around to the rear.

At the back, Genall found a window open and crawled in. Two floors of the home bore evidence of having been searched for valuables. In a wardrobe on the second floor, Genall found a radio. The radio was dressed in one of Dr. Gundelach's suits and a pair of the doctor's shoes. He also was wearing a came ring which he had found in the house. He was locked had changed clothes.

Probationary Genall joined the force in September and was placed on the beat Oct. 9. Grocery Store Is Held Up by Two Armed Negroes.

Two armed negroes entered the grocery of Mrs. Yetta Shenberg, 15 South Twenty-first street, at 5 p. m. yesterday and ordered Mrs. Yetta Shenberg, wife of the proprietor, who was in charge, and two customers to line up against the wall. One of the negroes kept them covered with his revolver while the second robbed the cash register of $59 and a revolver, after which both ran out and escaped.

James F. Ferguson of 4238 Delmar boulevard was putting his automobile in a garage in the rear of his home at 8:30 last night when two men, one armed, stepped into the garage from the alley and held him up. They took $32 and a purse from his pockets and escaped. Two suspects were arrested later in the neighborhood.

Joseph Blatz and Edward Yates, occupying a room at the Aberdeen Apartments, 4468 Forest Park boulevard, last night, stealing $15 and a purse and furs and clothing valued at $250.

Operations of a burglar alarm system, summoned to the Jefferson Loan Co., 321 North Jefferson avenue, at 10:45, found a negro in the yard at the rear. A brace and bit was on the ground near a rear door and in the door three holes had been bored. The jarring on the door had set off the burglar alarm. The negro was taken to the Laclede Avenue Station, where he admitted having attempted to rob the store, the police reported. A companion, he said, escaped.

Son Testifies Father Set Fire to

They Came Out.
By the Associated Press.

MIDDLETON, Conn., Oct. 21.—Emil Schutte, storekeeper of the village of Shaleeville, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the Middlesex County Superior Court this afternoon. All six counts against him, charging the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ball and their son, Jacob, by gun and fire, were upheld. Judge Malibele deferred sentence until next Tuesday. There is another indictment against Schutte charging him with the murder of Dennis Leduc, his farm hand, by gun and arson, last April.

The evidence against Schutte, which was deemed vital by the State, was given by his second son, Julius, who testified that his father saturated two bags of shavings with oil and placed them against the door of the shack occupied by the Ball family and then set the bags on fire. As the fire spread out first the father, then the wife and then the son, young Schutte testified, his father shot them and then dragged the bodies into the burning shack.

DID YOU EVER ???
Wish you knew just where to get a home-cooked meal, served in a day-lit, airy, comfortable atmosphere and by courteous, quick and clean Americans? The BON TON ON CHESTNUT STREET Answers the Question.The Spirit of State Regulation

State regulation of public utilities is—and was intended by the people to be—a safeguard for utility investments, as well as protection against excessive rates. All or nearly all of the forty-eight States have commissions whose duty it is to supervise and control utility financing, rates, service and accounting. In some States the commissions regulate municipal as well as company-owned utilities.

As the years pass, public opinion becomes more strongly confirmed in support of State regulation. Now and then a commission makes a decision which prompts either utility customers or utility investors to demand that State regulation be abolished. The people, who have final authority in such matters, appear to understand that in such cases the loser is merely exercising the right of the defeated attorneys, as defined by Abraham Lincoln, to "go down to the tavern and curse the court." The public, in its double role of customer and investor, apparently appreciates the fact that under State regulation utility services are generally better and cheaper, and utility investments—shared by hundreds of thousands of men and women directly and by millions indirectly—are generally safer than before State regulation was established.

The broad general spirit of State regulation toward investors in public utility securities is fairly stated in a recent decision by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission, in these words:

When the people invite private enterprise to construct and operate a public utility, they do so because they do not desire to exercise their sovereign power to raise the money necessary to construct and operate it themselves, and by so doing they say impliedly to all investors:

"If you will organize a corporation, gather together under its control and management sufficient capital to build, develop and handle the project; engineer, lay out, establish, construct and equip the public utility ready for operation; organize the necessary corps of solicitors and procure the business; train and procure an efficient operating force;—if you will do for us all that we desire for ourselves, if we were so inclined, we GUARANTEE THAT YOUR CAPITAL INVESTED SHALL NOT BE CONSUMED OR DESTROYED; THAT YOU SHALL BE JUSTLY AND REASONABLY COMPENSATED FOR THE USE OF YOUR CAPITAL SO LONG AS IT IS LEGITIMATELY AND PROPERLY USED IN THE RENDERING OF SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC, AND THAT ULTIMATELY YOU MAY NOT LOSE, BUT SHALL BE ABLE TO REGAIN YOUR CAPITAL INVESTED IN RENDERING SUCH PUBLIC SERVICE."

The day when utility companies could issue stocks and bonds at their own pleasure is long past. Today not a dollar of such securities can be issued and sold to the investor without the State's approval, based on intimate knowledge of the issuing company's condition and the use it proposes to make of the new capital.

Wireless Message Says Thousands Must Perish Unless Help Comes Immediately.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 21.—The International Relief Committee of Constantinople yesterday sent a wireless appeal to the civilized world on behalf of thousands of destitute and homeless Russian refugees who have been absolutely helpless since the recent withdrawal from this city of the American Red Cross unit. The appeal says that "these unfortunate fugitives must perish unless assistance comes immediately."

WOMAN RECOVERS DIAMONDS SHE HAD REPORTED AS LOST

Mrs. Barney Wohl, 6031 Waterman avenue, has recovered four diamond rings, valued by her at $2500, which she reported were lost or misplaced Dec. 20, 1920. She was at a dentist's office in the Lister building, Taylor avenue and Olive street. She declined to discuss the circumstances under which the jewelry was recovered.

Mrs. Caroline Mack, 535 Clara avenue, reported the loss of a silver meshbag containing diamonds which she valued at $1160 on an Olive car between Clara and Taylor avenues at 2 p. m. yesterday. She was on her way to the office of a physician in the Lister building. She said she did not discover the loss until she had entered the office. The jewelry consisted of two diamond rings and a diamond brooch.

NAME REMOVED FROM LIST OF ALLEGED DRAFT DESERTERS

Commander of Seventh Army Corps
Explains Error as to Averman
B. Bender of St. Louis.

Brigadier-General Omar Bundy, commanding the Seventh Corps, United States Army, has issued from his headquarters, Fort Crook, Neb., the following statement:

"The charge of desertion against Averman B. Bender, a registrant of the Local Board for Division No. 19, St. Louis, is set aside, and his name removed from the list of alleged draft deserters."

"Draft records show that this registrant returned his questionnaire within the proper time, and was given classification by his local board. However, through error, the local board certified him to the Adjutant-General of Missouri as a delinquent. That official issued him Discharge Order, No. 678, directing him to report for military duty not later than Feb. 1, 1921. Subsequently suspended the induction order prior to the date that it became effective upon statement by the local board that this man had been reported as a delinquent in error.

"3. This man's name appeared upon the published list of alleged draft deserters as the result of the final report of the draft officials showing him to be a deserter."

Kidney and Bladder weakness results from uric acid, says a noted authority.

The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder where it often remains to irritate and inflame.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and other organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to bladder disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithium water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Powerful Sooner Machine Favored To Defeat Pikers

Oklahoma Eleven Outweighs Crippled Washington Team 10 Pounds to the Man.

ONE GOOD RELIEF PLAYER

Coach Rider Handicapped by Injuries and Shortage of Substitute Material.

Following a short practice session at Francis Field, the Washington University football squad departed yesterday afternoon for Norman, Ok., where it will meet the strong Oklahoma State eleven tomorrow. The Pikers were scheduled to arrive in Oklahoma City today in time for a workout this afternoon. They will spend the night there, journeying the 18 miles to Norman tomorrow in time for the game.

The Piker prospects for the coming struggle are not very bright. The enforced absence of Shanley, due to an injury in the Kansas Aggie game two weeks ago, and the numerous ailments of the men who are making the trip, have greatly decreased the power of the team by Shanley. The winner is vacant by Shanley, who is played by Sarsam, a lightweight, but a swift and sure tackler. The punting, which is usually Shanley's job, will again fall to Thumper. He will match kicks with "Ham" Morrison, Sooner fullback. Against the Oklahoma Aggies last week Morrison punted nine times for an average of 50 yards, while his average so far this season on punts is over the 47-yard mark.

Few Players Not Injured.

The only members of Coach Rider's squad who are not suffering from injury are Schaus, end; Tommy Thompson, quarterback; O'Brien, half, and Denny, utility linemen. Capt. Kraeke, tackle, and Singleton and Kurkus, guards, are suffering from severe bruises and injuries to their limbs, while Hainer, center, has bad ankles. Long, tackle, has just recovered from an injured shoulder that has kept him on the hospital list for several weeks. The backfield players suffered an injury to his nose last week. Mathes wrangled his shoulder and Clappay has a wobbly knee. Even "Doc" Young, fullback, is having trouble with bruised ankles.

Bob Denny, utility man, is Coach Rider's only first-class relief player. Sooners Have Strong Machine.

Coach Owen's Sooners present a decided contrast to the Pikers. Ten former letter men, four of them 1920 all-Missouri Valley stars, make up the veteran membership of the present Sooner aggregation. The Oklahomans have a team average of about 190 pounds. This exceeds the Piker average by about 10 pounds a man.

The two lineups which saw action last week and which are expected to clash tomorrow follow:

Washington, Position, Oklahoma. Schaus, ... Left end, ... March Kraeke (Capt.), Left tackle, ... Bailey Singleton, Center, ... guard, ... Edmondson ... Right end, ... Right tackle, ... Kurkus, ... Right guard, ... Martin Long, ... Right tackle, ... Bowles ... Right end, ... Haskell (Capt.) Thompson, ... Quarterback, ... Hendricks ... Quarterback, ... Right half, ... Hill Mathes or ... Left half, ... Taylor Young, ... Fullback, ... Morrison Swales

OKLAHOMA COACHED TO BREAK UP WASHINGTON'S PET TOUCHDOWN GETTER

NORMAN, Ok., Oct. 21.—The University of Oklahoma football eleven went through its last day of hard work yesterday before the initial conference game with the Washington squad tomorrow. Four days of heavy drill and practice, with every hour of work devoted to offensive tactics in scrummage, will be followed today by a light signal drill.

The final scrummage on defense yesterday, in which the Sooners opposed a series of Piker plays used by the freshman squad. The Piker pass that Coach Rider is depending on for his scoring power against the Sooners worked neatly at the hands of the yearlings for the first few times used, but the varsity defense soon learned to meet it with a degree of effectiveness.

The first two games on the Sooner schedule prove that the Oklahomans are strong on defense and decided weak on offense, due to the falling down of the forward passing and lack of fight in the pinches.

Van Edmondson, 1920 guard, who had worked a mile a year, was shifted back to guard and Clarence Bowles, a new man, was sent in to tackle. Cullem, guard, who has been working in Edmondson's place, was shifted to the back field to help bolster it.

POLO GROUNDS CAPACITY IN 1922 TO BE 50,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Plans for renovation and enlargement of the Polo Grounds, Manhattan's largest ball park, which will increase its capacity from 25,000 to 50,000, have been completed under the direction of Charles Stomshom, president of the New York National League club. The work, which in the late fall according to present plans, will be completed in time for the opening of the 1922 league season.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—Hopeful but not overconfident, Ohio State's football team will leave to-night for Ann Arbor, where it will be battle with Michigan's powerful eleven tomorrow in a game that is expected to have considerable bearing on this year's Western Confer-

Princeton, Helped by Navy Defeat, Will Beat Chicago, Roper Writes

Stronger Line and Superior Scheme of Coaching Expected by Head Coach of Tigers to Weigh in Their Favor in Inter-sectional Struggle Tomorrow.

By W. W. (Bill) Roper.
Head Coach at Princeton.

There are four games in the East tomorrow of supreme importance. Because of its inter-sectional aspect, the Princeton-Chicago game will probably create more general interest. But it is only for this reason that I place this game ahead of the Army-Yale battle at New Haven, the Penn-State-Harvard fight at Cambridge or the Syracuse-Pitt game at Pittsburgh.

The Chicago team has been pointing for the Princeton game since last winter, and Stagg comes East with the best maroon eleven since 1913.

In my opinion, the Navy defense has been a blessing in disguise. Disagreeable as it was at the time, I have been urging the entire squad to remember that newspaper and undergraduate sentiment do not make a winning football team. Until last Saturday I had very little success in accomplishing anything. What I would say went in one ear and out the other. It has been impossible for me to disabuse everyone from having a very exalted idea of the team's ability. One result was shown Saturday, when the Princeton players won a round-jacketed to Amherst with a smug complacency that always spells disaster and the team left the game a little beaten and demoralized aggregation.

If sometimes takes a very serious surgical operation to cure what is of little apparent consequence. The Princeton team has had its operation. It is going to be very interesting to watch the two theories work out.

Chicago's Kick Formation.

I understand Chicago kicks from special open formation with the entire line spread across the field and going down as soon as the ball is passed. This is directly opposite to our theory of kicking where the tight, close line is emphasized. The Chicago punter stands back about 15 yards, while we play our kicker back nine or ten. They figure the entire line down field will make up the additional distance spotted the kicker. It is going to be very interesting to watch the two theories work out.

Yale is going to have a very hard time winning from West Point. The Yale team hasn't had a real test, and no matter how good the eleven is, this will have its effect. The first four games on the Yale schedule have been very easy. The question in my mind is whether they haven't been too easy. The Army line is big and strong and will hold its own with the Ells. The Yale backs will outplay the Army backs, if Yale plays its full strength. French is always dangerous behind the Army line, however.

Test of Two Systems.

Aldrich tried a quick kick several times against Williams. He is getting them off well, but they are a trifle low, and hard to cover. Unless the Yale ends with French on these kicks, he will bring them back up the field, and this will equalize Aldrich's superiority in punting. Yale will open up the game more than last year, while their forward passing has improved, it is far from perfect. West Point is not enamored of the passing game, though they will try a pass at the psychological moment if Pritchard, who is coaching the Army backs has his way.

This game will do the Yale team all sorts of good, but I am not so sure they will win. Though I hope they do for our own peace of mind.

It is in this that the two systems differ, and I believe our method is the better, though tomorrow will tell the tale. I believe Chicago will depend upon wide end running and long forward passes. They are very good at the pass, both in throwing and receiving it, and I expect the Princeton backs will be put to a very severe test. I am always taught that when I see my team up against a fast forward team, I should stand from what I can hear Chicago very keen at this sort of play. Whether, Gilroy and Garrity, however, make a very formidable secondary defense and the Chicago passes will have to be exceptionally good to get by.

Princeton Line Stout.

I expect the Princeton team to be superior from tackle to tackle. The Chicago forwards haven't been up against the same opposition as we have, and as a result won't be as ready to stand up against the grueling they must expect in a game of this sort. Against Chicago, they will have a game for two weeks. This is going to handicap them more than one would imagine. A team needs a real game play, and Chicago hasn't had enough of it.

And I venture to predict Princeton will win with the result of the Yale-Army, Harvard-Penn State games very much in doubt.

There are several classy games in every section of the country. It looks as if a good line can be gotten on the comparative merits of the big teams.

Jerabek's Glass Jaw Proves Myth; Burns Is Kayoed

South Side Boxer, in Excellent Condition, Disposes of Foe in Seventh Round.

By John E. Wray.

The end of the quest of Bill Burns, eighteen middleweight of Duluth, for the "glass jaw" of Charles Sailor Jerabek, last night, at the South Broadway A. C., found William lying face down on the resined canvas, with Referee Leo Shea tolling off the ten count.

The only thing

discoverable during the evening was Burns' eyes when, as Shea reached the count of nine, William hit his head in a futile effort to respond.

Burns had been knocked

in the seventh round with two hard blows to the solid jaw, followed by a left-hand dig into the ladder.

If the Sailor had a glass jaw, it was not the kind Burns could see through.

Bill had heard about this champion weakness in the armor of the St. Louis boxer. Last night

he entered the ring to box 12

rounds with the owner of the fragile

maxillary, "glass jaw" was patently

on the Sailor's watchword and his target.

He hit his eye on it from the first round and hooked and swung at it with more or less effect all through the first five rounds.

Jerabek Trainer Hard.

Jerabek, who has in past fights

shown a sensitive jaw, attributed his improved resisting powers to the fact that, for the first time in his life, he had been properly trained. He plainly was in fine fettle.

For one moment, in the sixth round,

Johnny Collins of East St. Louis seemed about to give Johnny Lucas a joy ride to dreamland. Six successive rights to the jaw reduced Lucas to consciousness—and then the going back, ending in a roundhouse, came surprisingly, and, due to an advantage on points gained in the early rounds, earned the verdict of Referee

Shea. That is, he would have earned it but for a very bad tendency to hold,

which displeased spectators greatly,

to judge by remarks.

Weiss Takes a Beating.

Bobby Weiss is evidently not the greatest bantamweight in the world, but for sheer, indomitable will, the little fellow proved that he deserves to be at the top. Mike Kramer's rapi-erous right had sliced through the Weiss guard and into the body of his foe with deadly thuds. His short,

snappy lefts and rights rained off

Weiss' head and jabbed his nose and smashed his commission department.

Then Kramer, in the next round, took terrible toll. He had Weiss' face looking like raw meat, and a red spot on Weiss' short ribs showed where the blows that damaged were scoring more and more wildly, hoping in vain to land another haymaker.

But in the middle of the third round, although he was still moving in the general direction of Kramer, he was no better down than he could hardly be, and, for, Referee Shea mercifully stopped the go.

Walter Knoke, fighting in his first professional bout, was no match for the experienced Jack Callahan.

Drake Likely To
Be in Billikens'
Lineup Tomorrow

Fullback, Kept Out of Practice
by Illness and, Scholastic Duties, Returns to Squad.

A hard-fought battle is expected tomorrow afternoon, when the St. Louis University Billikens meet the heavy De Pauw University team, at Sportsman's Park, at 2:30 o'clock.

Advance reports from Greencastle, Ind., state that the Methodists have a powerful eleven. If these reports are true, and De Pauw's heavy schedule bears them out, O'Rourke's vastly improved machine is in for a battle.

The Blue and White mentor believes that his aggregation is stronger since he has made several shifts in the personnel of his squad. The placing of Egglest at quarter has only strengthened the team's offense and has developed secondary defense for the tackles and ends which the coach believes will be a success.

Dixie Drake was in uniform last night and ran through the signals with his old-time dash. Dixie has been ill and has had considerable scholastic work during the past week which kept him from practice the last three nights. The blonde Southerner has now cleared up all academic trouble and will doubtless be in Saturday's game.

O'Rourke will take recourse in a rapid substitution of players, as he did in the Milwaukee game. This move is occasioned by the fact that seven of the players are not fully recovered from the bruising of the Missouri battle and are not fitted for a long contest.

Donovan will start in the backfield with Drake and probably Tod-Gerraghty will remain on the line, unless the Greencastle defense proves too obstinate for the light backfield men. Capt. Flanagan may not start this week, as he is in bad physical condition. Roche will likely receive the flank assignment.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague

HOW COULD THEY DO IT?
I used to think that Mr. Keats
Was quite a little bard,
In fact his published work still meets
With my profound regard.
And yet my taste is full of flaws,
Which fills my soul with pain,
I must have got him wrong, because
He makes his meaning plain.

Percy Shelley, so I always thought,
Knew how to write a line
In which each lifting word was fraught
With melody divine.
And yet my fancy that his song
Is usually sublime—
And full of uplift must be wrong—
I get him every time.

I'm even fond of Byron's stuff,
His poems I've enjoyed.
Although they're sometimes rather rough
And smack a bit of Freud.
And that of course is quite absurd
For all his work I've scanned
And never run across a word
I couldn't understand.

I know of course these bards are through,
For not a magazine
Believes that layout ever do.
They just what they mean.
But though they don't deserve their fame,
And had no punch or pep,
These played out poets just the same
Got quite a little rep.
